[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Columbus, S. C., Nov. 20.—The equestrian statue of General Wade Hampton, a tribute to the memory of the famous statesman, warrior and patriot from the state of South Carolina, was unveiled today in the presence of an immense assemblage that included visitors from all parts of the state. The statue is placed in the capitol square. The unveiling was preceded by a large parade of military and civic organizations. The gray uniforms of the veterans, the rattle and clatter of the horses, and the many marching militiamen served to tint the procession with just enough martial color to make it form a fitting preliminary to the unveiling of the bronze monument to the famous leader of the "men of Hampton." Gen. M. C. Butler, who was a follower of Gen. Hampton in both war and politics and one of his sincerest admirers, delivered the oration at the unveiling. His address was a sincere eulogy of the character, devoted fealty to country and home and the courageous qualities of the hero whose statue served to inspire the sentences. Other brief speeches were delivered and the program was appropriately interspersed with music and closed with a salute of artillery. The statue is the work of the well known sculptor, R. Wellington Ruckstuhl. It is a massive affair of bronze and represents the famous cavalry leader as he appeared in the days of the war.

WOMAN WIELDED BUTCHER KNIFE

ON MRS. CHARLES H. KNOFF

Before Judge C. L. Fifield this afternoon Charles H. Knoff swore out a warrant charging Mrs. O. M. Anderson, who resides at the corner of Washington and Mole avenue, with assault and battery. The offense is alleged to have occurred shortly before eleven o'clock this morning. The complainant says that he had borrowed a way to move from his home on Mole avenue, next door to the Anderson home, and that the horse was hitched to a street railway guidewire pole between the lots on which are located the house he has occupied and one where Mrs. Anderson lives. The latter objected to having the rig stand before her premises and is claimed to have come out with a huge butcher knife to cut the tie strap. Mr. Knoff says he reached the horse in time to stop Mrs. Anderson in the first attempt but that she tried again when he loosened his hold on her. Then he claims Mrs. Knoff interfered and in doing so was slashed across the back of one hand and struck on top of the head. The weapon caused but a slight scalp wound, a heavy head of hair serving as a protection. Charles Tallman, collector for the Wisconsin Telephone company happened along at the time and separated the two women and seized the knife. This he turned over to Mr. Knoff who summoned the police. When the officers arrived Mrs. Anderson was begging to escape prosecution.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 20.—A thousand delegates filled Convention Hall today at the opening of the seventeenth annual convention of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial congress. The largest and most notable delegations represented California, Texas, Arkansas, Kansas, Utah, Iowa, Missouri, Colorado, Arizona, Washington, Oregon, Wyoming and the Dakotas.

President David R. Francis of Missouri presided. The initial session was devoted chiefly to welcoming the guests. Governor Folk of Missouri and the chief executives of neighboring commonwealth extended greetings to the visitors. The roll call showed that the attendance was not able for the large number of governors, members of congress, and other public men of prominence, who were present. Occupying a place of honor upon the platform was Secretary of State Root, who addresses the congress this evening upon matters pertaining to the recent Pan-American conference at Rio Janeiro. Secretary Root was given a hearty ovation when he made his appearance.

At the beginning of the afternoon session the committees were appointed, credentials examined, and the convention regularly organized. These preliminaries occupied the greater part of the session.

The program for the congress is only partially outlined. Following the program of former years the executive committee has decided that it would not fix any set time for the discussion of various topics. They will be taken up in order. As rapidly as one is exhausted another will be introduced. In this manner the members will be able to devote time to each subject in proportion to its importance.

As far as prepared the program calls for addresses as follows: "Alaska," John G. Brady, former governor of Alaska; "San Francisco," Col. H. R. Loveland, president of the Pacific Coast Jobbers and Manufacturers' association; "The Levee System," Morris Sheppard, member of congress, Texas; "Naval Construction on the Pacific Coast," George W. Dickie, San Francisco; "Rivers and Harbors," Joseph E. Randall, member of congress, Louisiana; "Irrigation Projects and Public Land Drainage," F. H. Newell, chief engineer of the reclamation service; "The Panama Canal and Our Great Undeveloped Commercial Opportunity in South America and the Pacific Ocean," John Barrett, American minister to Colombia; Secretary Root, Secretary Shaw and Hon. John G. Carlisle are to address the congress on topics of their own selection. William Jennings Bryan, who is a former president of the congress, is to close the convention Friday night with an address on Trans-Mississippi topics.

Matters of a political nature are excluded from the discussions of the congress. The topics that will receive more or less attention during the four days' session include flood control, harbor improvement, merchant marine, Oriental trade, Alaska, irrigation, Columbia river, forestry, San Francisco, naval construction on the Pacific coast, trusts, and their relation to business, government ownership of public utilities, levee systems in Texas and Louisiana, Pan-American commercial union, drainage of public lands, and statehood.

THE SKIDOO PROBLEM
A coin collector had an accumulation of pennies. He told his son he would make him a present of the entire lot if he would put them in boxes, the same number in each box.
There was an odd number of pennies so that if he put an equal number in each of two boxes there would be one penny left over; in a like manner he figured on 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21 and 22 boxes, but in every case if he put an equal number in each box there would be one (only one) penny left over. The son gave it up and told his father he thought it impossible to perform the feat. His father replied: "SKIDOO—23 for you!" The son then put the entire lot of pennies in 23 boxes; the same number in each box.
To make the problem plain: The entire number of pennies was a number which if divided by any number from 2 to 22 inclusive there will be a remainder of one (only one) and if divided by 23 there will be no remainder.

Late Answers to the Great Skidoo Problem.
Very Simple.
Janesville, Wis., Nov. 12, 1936.
To the Puzzle Editor—Dear Sir: I thought I would take the opportunity and figure out your problem which is very simple. I think—others may not—but I will now explain. The number of pennies which if divided by any number from 2 to 22 will give a remainder of one, only one, and when divided by 23 will have no remainder. It must be 33 or a number above 23. It cannot be a number below 23 or 23 itself, because eight is a number between 2 and 22 and 23 divided by 8 gives us a quotient of two and a remainder of 7 and any number below 23 is divisible by either 2, 3 or 4 and without a remainder. Therefore 33 can be or must be a number above 23 and any number of pennies between 1 and 23 exclusive, in each box is divisible by either two or three without a remainder. It must be 1 or 23. I can prove that it is not one, so it must be that there are twenty-three pennies in each box. Which 529 meets the conditions of the problem which is the correct solution.
M. M. City.
Answer 529.
Janesville, Wis., Nov. 13, 1936.
Dear Puzzle Editor: I think I have solved your problem. Multiply 23 by 23 which gives the answer of 529. Divide 529 by 23 and gives the answer of 23. Divide 529 by 22 and gives

WIRELESS TRUST BEING FORMED

AMERICAN DE FOREST AND ENGLISH MARCONI COMPANIES COMBINE.

ABRAHAM WRITES PRESIDENT

Will Be Capitalized at Twenty Millions—Other Gossip from the National Capitol.
(By William Wolf Smith.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—Special Correspondence.—When some humorous writer once entertained his readers with a description of the Consolidated Air trust, which acquired proprietary rights of the atmosphere surrounding the earth and charged the inhabitants for the privilege of breathing, he wrote fiction, but he foreshadowed another "trust" which is based on air, and which is now being formed—the "Wireless Telegraph trust," which is the latest idea in industrial combinations. The writer has just returned from "White Park," West End, New Jersey, the magnificent home of Abraham White, who is to be the president of the United Wireless Telegraph company—the "trust" where the plans for the consolidation of the English and American wireless companies have been perfected. While there are details in connection with the transfer of stocks, patent rights and interests which have not yet been fully worked out, the general ground for the consolidation has been mapped out to such an extent that Mr. White announced to his guests last Sunday that the transactions looking toward the perfection of the combination were completed beyond the possibility of failure. The United Wireless, or "trust" will be composed of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph company, Ltd., of England, and the American DeForest Wireless Telegraph company. The former controls the Marconi companies of America, Canada and Europe. The American DeForest is the parent company of the English DeForest company. Between the two they control all the commercial systems of wireless now operated in English speaking countries. The combination will be capitalized at twenty million dollars and Mr. White has accepted the presidency. While Marconi is credited with having been the first to combine the principles of the wireless into a working system, and DeForest followed with another similar system, the work of these two has been improved upon by many other inventors, so that the systems now in use are the joint work of many scientists. For this reason the new company will not include the name of any inventor, but will be known as the United Wireless. As is well known most of the transatlantic liners are equipped with the Marconi system, especially the English liners, while the vessels of the DeForest system almost exclusively. The United States government stations and vessels are equipped with the DeForest instruments, while the English government prefers the Marconi. The new combination will therefore include all the wireless stations up and down the Atlantic and Pacific coasts from Maine to Florida and from the Gulf of Mexico to Alaska; the interior stations at Chicago, Denver, St. Louis and many other places; those on the Great Lakes, and on substantially all ocean-going vessels flying the American and English flags. The interchange of wireless messages, about which there has been such a fuss, and which led to the recent international conference at Berlin, will be practically accomplished by the consolidation of the DeForest and Marconi companies. As the English and American governments are both greatly concerned with wireless it will be interesting to note their attitude toward the new "trust" which will control both the English and American business.

The plans for the consolidation have been worked out at "White Park," the magnificent estate recently purchased by Mr. White. It was formerly named "Shadow Lawn" and was created by the late John T. McCall, president of the New York Life, who spent at least a million dollars on its ground and buildings. After his death it came on the market with mount gages aggregating $200,000. At this time Mr. White, always a daring and successful speculator, took cognizance of the possibilities in London, Pacific and Southern Pacific stocks. The recent rise in those two stocks is fresh in the public mind. How much Mr. White cleared is not known, but with a portion of his profits, estimated at half a million, he bought "Shadow Lawn" and re-named it "White Park." The remainder of his profits he determined to invest in extending his wireless holdings, having long been interested in the possibilities of wireless, as president of the American DeForest company. For the past few months there has been a succession of "house" and "week-end" parties at White Park, at which Mr. and Mrs. White have entertained English and American scientists and capitalists with a faint sprinkling of German, French and Italian. When not at the party the party would run up at the Waldorf-Astoria for a few days. Meanwhile the details were being worked out by the brokers and attorneys of the companies concerned. Last Sunday Mr. White informed his guests that the consolidation had been perfected and that nothing remains to be worked out except the details relating to the exchange of stocks and patent rights, etc., and the announcement to the stockholders will be made in a few days. Mr. White will be a large stockholder in the United Wireless, but it is rumored that Lord Armstrong will be equally interested. Lord Armstrong is the great ship builder of England who constructs most of the British war vessels, and equips them.
Washington Masons will soon have a new $40,000 temple, plans for the construction of which are now under consideration. It will be six stories high, of classic architecture, steel-framed, and fire proof throughout. Fifty-foot girders, spanning from wall to wall, dispense with columns. The base and other architectural features will be of limestone, and the main body of selected gray brick. An attic will crown the building. An immense banquet hall will occupy the basement. The auditorium on the main floor will have a seating capacity of 1500, and will be furnished with a grand organ for choral and society work. The second and third stories will be given to the Blue Lodges. The Knights Templar will have the fourth floor, and the Scottish Rite will occupy the fifth. The Mystic Shriners will have the sixth floor.
"If I had been given the choice of any place in the President's cabinet, I should have chosen the one I am to have," said Oscar S. Strauss, who will soon enter Mr. Roosevelt's official family as secretary of commerce and labor.
"It is the work for which I have waited for fifty years, and is the nearest to my heart," he continued. "It is embraced the work of a so-called political and economic nature, in which I am interested more than in any other. It is the work to which I shall devote my entire time and thought, and I shall resign from every business connection in order to devote my whole energies to its prosecution."
Mr. Strauss was in Washington a few days during the past week, preparatory to a short visit to the Virginia Hot Springs. While here he incidentally discussed politics, saying that he is confident Mr. Hughes will give New York a thoroughly efficient administration. He thinks Mr. Hearst has been permanently eliminated as an individual political factor.
Friends of the colored troops of the twenty-fifth infantry who were dishonorably discharged from the army by the order of the President a short time ago, have retained a Washington lawyer to fight for their reinstatement and the restoration of their civil rights on the ground that the dismissal was unconstitutional in that it violates the 5th amendment to that document. This amendment declares that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law, and the attorney claims the President violated this clause in dismissing them without a trial or court-martial. It is also pointed out that it is the duty of a company commander, when he finds the service of a soldier is not honest and faithful to notify the soldier at least thirty days before his discharge, and that the regulations require an enlisted man must be given a hearing before a board of officers in every case of alleged violation of the rules of the army.

Capt. John Lamb of Richmond, Virginia, who has been a representative in congress for more than a dozen years, says the main plank in the next democratic platform should be for the revision of the tariff, "on which we can all unite and go on to victory." He advocates a short and concise document for the reason that every time democracy has won it has achieved success on a platform noted for its brevity. He is of the opinion that Bryan is democracy's logical candidate for 1908.

PILES

Common sense is just as necessary (even more so) in medicine as in business or the affairs of every day life. People are getting to know more than they used to. Not so long ago it was the fashion to make all sorts of claims for a medicine, and wind up by asking the reader to go to a drug store and buy a bottle. People won't stand for that kind of thing now. They want proof—tangible proof. They want to try the remedy first and if they find it to be what is claimed they will be glad enough to go and buy it.

A Convincing Argument.

That is why we say to every person suffering from piles or any form of rectal disease, send us your name and we will gladly send you a free trial package. For we know what the result will be. After using the trial you will hurry to your nearest druggist and get a 50c box of Pyramid Pile Cure, now admitted by thousands to be one of the most wonderful reliefs and cures for Piles ever known.
Please excuse my delay in writing to you sooner in regard to what your Pyramid Pile Cure has done for me. I consider it one of the finest medicines in the world for piles. I suffered untold misery for four months when my wife begged me to send for a 50c box. When it was half gone I knew I was better and it didn't take any begging to get me to send for a second box. I think I am about well now but if I feel any symptoms of a return I will order at once. I order it from the Pyramid Pile Co. to be sure of the cure. Tell all about this fine remedy for piles.
"And if there is anything in this letter you want to see a few days ago, yours for a remedy like Pyramid Pile Cure."
J. J. McElwee,
Honey Grove, Tex., R. R. 9, box 29.
"P. S. I only used two boxes and don't think I need any more. Piles of seven months' standing."
To get a free trial package send today to the Pyramid Drug Co., 64 Pyramid Building, Marshall, Michigan. It will come by return mail and the results will both delight and astonish you.

INTERNATIONAL LIVE STOCK EXPOSITION, DEC. 1 TO 8

A Plea for Low Railway Rates for the College Student.
J. Willard Boile of Rhode Island College of Agriculture, thus portrays the value of this exposition to students of the agricultural colleges and the enormous distance and rates as handicaps to his boys:
Regarding the accomplishments of the International exposition, I desire to compliment you and your associates sincerely on the tremendous success your efforts have achieved of the magnificent new amphitheatre.
I have recently transferred from the Rocky Mountain region to the far east and I can state authoritatively that the good effects of the International are very apparent in all sections that I am familiar with. I am especially interested in the student judging competition as I was at one time a competitor from the Michigan Agricultural college, and I think that the experience gained there has been very beneficial to me in later work. I only wish there were some means by which the colleges outside of the middle west could receive the benefit of this experience. Railroad fares, at present, effectively prevent the colleges in the far west, south and east from entering the contests, but if the railroads could be induced to make some very special rates, I feel sure that many other colleges would be glad to enter.
I sincerely hope that something can be done in the east to promote a similar contest with the dairy cattle, sheep, swine and horse classes, as we can do very little with beef in this section at present.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Janesville Household Will Find Them So.
To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed, to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great gratification can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Janesville readers.
Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, of 65 Terrace St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I have been troubled with a very weak back and continuous pain with a heavy bearing-down pain in the loins. I did not understand my trouble at first and used a lot of remedies that did not help me, but since I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the People's Drug Co., I have been rid of my old complaint, and it gives me pleasure to recommend the remedy that cured me."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PROGRESS OF THE CHARITABLE WORK

Two More Members Were Added to Society, and Directorate at Regular Meeting Yesterday.
Miss Mabel Shumway and Mrs. T. P. Burns were elected as members of the Associated Charities society and the board of directors of the same, yesterday. The former was assigned to work in the third ward and the latter in the fifth ward. The donations of clothing, shoes, bedding, etc., are coming in just about fast enough to keep pace with the demand. This far the ticket system of co-operation with the merchants is working very well. It is anticipated that the Charity Ball to be given at Assembly hall Thanksgiving will net a substantial sum which can readily be applied in the good work which the association is doing.

ROCK PRAIRIE

Rock Prairie, Nov. 20.—School began this week in district No. 4. It was detained one week, owing to the fact that the much-needed inside repairing could not be completed sooner.
While A. J. Barless was delivering barley at the Avian elevator last week the team became frightened, throwing Mr. Barless out. The horses proceeded homeward until they collided with a barbed-wire fence, injuring one of the horses to such an extent that Dr. R. L. Brown had to be called.
On next Thursday evening, Nov. 22, Dr. L. G. Herbert will deliver his lecture entitled "A Man Among Men." George Austin's little boy, who has been so seriously ill, is reported to be no better at the present time.
The farmers in this locality are all either shredding or anxious to do so as soon as they can get machines to do the work.

Miss Alice Edgely Watson of Philadelphia, a grand niece of Miss Rida Hodson of this city, was married last Thursday to Richard Willes of Cheltenham, England, youngest son of Captain H. C. Willes, late, Royal Welsh Fusiliers. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Theodore Watson of 289 Pembroke avenue, Wayne, Philadelphia. Mrs. Watson is a daughter of John Hodson, a former resident here. The wedding was solemnized by Rev. Charles Armstrong at St. Mary's Memorial church, Wayne, at high noon.
The bride was attended by Mrs. Robert M. Rolison of Chicago, as matron of honor and her maids were Miss Annette Vall Ewing and Miss Mary Kirk Waller of Chicago. Miss Antoinette Calypsoe, nee Wayne and Miss Katherine Widenheim of St. David's, John M. Watson, the bride's brother, was best man and the ushers included P. Ashby Wallace of Wayne, Arthur C. Knolhoff of East Orange, Mortimer E. Hodson of Chicago, and Archibald W. Archer of Bristol, R. I.
The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums and palms, with two giant torches of chrysanthemums half way down the aisles to mark off the seats reserved for the family. The road screen and altar were banked with chrysanthemums and ferns. The bridal gown was of duchess satin, trimmed with duchess and rose point lace combining in yoke and sleeves. The veil was fastened with a spray of orange blossoms obtained from the south and the bridal bouquet was of orchids and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor wore a lace robe over chiffon and taffeta, with a large black picture hat. She carried a basket of pale pink, bridesmaid's roses. The bridesmaids were gowned in white broadcloth, trimmed with Irish lace. They wore big black hats, with long plumes, and carried flat baskets of pink "Eucharist" carnations.
A breakfast and reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony. The house decorations were of white and yellow chrysanthemums, with the fireplace banked with green. Large baskets of lilies of the valley, roses and chrysanthemums formed the decorations for the dining room.
Mr. and Mrs. Willes will stay in England, visiting the family of the bridegroom until February, when they will sail for their future home in Buenos Ayres, Argentina.

Mrs. Austin's Backache has a world-wide reputation on account of its genuine buckwheat flavor. Don't forget the name.
Lions Almost Too Plentiful.
That there is an abundance of lions in central Africa is proved by these telegrams, said to have been sent recently by a railway station master to his division headquarters: "Please send further police protection. Men very brave, but less so when roaring begins." And "Please let 10 a. m. run up to the platform disregarding signals. Signalman up post, lion at bottom."

Before The Footlights.

We are glad to be able to announce that the Standard Opera company, which recently appeared in this city, and made such a very favorable impression by its excellent presentation of "Martha" and "The Bohemian Girl," has been secured by Manager Myers for a return engagement on the evening of Monday, Nov. 26, and will then present a grand, vocal and orchestral concert.

It is a matter of record that wherever this company has appeared, it has won an artistic and social triumph. The best people have made the occasion of these operatic presentations, social functions of the highest importance, and the opera houses have been crowded by delighted audiences of ladies and gentlemen, eager to hear the standard works of the great masters of melody, worthily presented.

Miss Pauline Perry, the prima donna of the Standard Opera company, is a Denver girl, who after studying her art with the best teachers in the metropolitan circles of this country, had her first experience on the stage as a concert singer. Rudolph Ganz, whose songs Miss Perry gave frequently in public, says that her rendering of the composition is quite perfect. Madam Gaudet took deep personal interest in Miss Perry, gave her special instruction and prophesied for her a bright future. Her successes in the leading soprano roles of "Martha" and "The Bohemian Girl" seem fully to justify the high opinions formed of her genius by the two great artists mentioned.

Miss Clara Hunt, the leading contralto of the company, sang for two seasons with Mme. Molier in the Metropolitan Grand Opera company, under the management of Maurice Grau. In addition to this Miss Hunt sang for a season in the famous Lamoureux Symphony Concerts in Paris. Her singing is always highly appreciated by the audiences before which she appears and meets with the kind favor of accomplished critics.

Mr. Edwin Howard, the leading tenor of the company, not only sings with great sweetness and intelligence, in the roles for which he is cast, but also has a large repertoire of concert numbers, and has made a wide reputation on the concert stage.

Mr. Natanson, the baritone, won high approval here by his work in the operas given, and curiosity is ripe to hear him in concert. The same may be said of Mr. Bertheleison, whose basso work as "Devilshot" in "The Bohemian Girl" was so favorably received here.

Full particulars as to the program, both orchestral and vocal, will be given later.

Since Marguerite Clark has been playing opposite DeWolf Hopper, one of the most striking features of this excellent combination of talent is the great physical contrast between the two—Mr. Hopper is several inches more than six feet tall while Miss Clark is slightly four feet. Not until you have seen the little lady beside the massive figure of the elongated comedian, not until you have caught a glimpse of her somewhere on the streets or in the shops, can you fully appreciate how diminutive one can be and still be a big theatrical favorite. It seems really wonderful to realize that her enormous singing voice and her gigantic bundle of possibilities are all tucked away in what appears to be a mere sample of fascinating femininity.

The question of physical size and the advantages or the disadvantages of the same comes to every one some time. In the theatrical business, the eternal cry of the managers and the public seems to be toward big strapping men, and statuesque women. Therefore in Miss Clark's case, being about the tallest "big" person on the stage—being decidedly clever and being particularly good looking—the question of the benefits of her size naturally arises.

Miss Clark has most pronounced ideas regarding her stature as will be evinced by the following: She had promised a newspaper man a story of her earliest theatrical experience (she was then only a chorus girl) but the interview unexpectedly swerved to one concerning her "liteness."

Miss Clark said: "I just have been little. I would like to be twice as big as I am—yes, even bigger than Mr. Hopper—so I would look down on him in just the same manner that he does me. And he is not he only one. Most people look down from their superior loftiness with a sort of a pitying manner. Oh! Oh! Oh! how I would like to be able to change places with them."

It is simply awful to be so small. You can realize that yourself when you know that I find satisfaction in standing on a chair and absolute consolation in sitting on the top of a step ladder."

The little lady was in an retrospective humor. There she stood, perched on top of an ordinar trunk, her feet swinging about eight inches from the floor. One might have imagined her heart was breaking, if her sorrowful sighs were any criterion.

She claimed that being little carried nothing with it but disadvantages. It was suggested that most big women would give their right hands to be small. Miss Clark's eyes flashed in derision and asserted they didn't appreciate what had been granted them.

"They can buy pretty things to wear without going to all the trouble of having them made to order. You can not appreciate what that means. I often walk down the street and see the prettiest things in the shop windows. Then, on account of past experiences and hoping against hope, I go in and ask the salesman if he won't try to find something in his stock just a little bit similar that would fit me. But they invariably shake their heads, smile good naturedly, look down on me and tell me I am too small. That I will have to have them made to order. It is all so discouraging. That's the way with everything—it must be made to order. My gloves are only 5 1/2—my shoes size 12 for children—just think of that and the rest of my clothes—oh, they are all so small. I don't believe they have my size. Then I am blessed with another supreme trouble—even after I have these clothes made to order, I don't look nice to them, to my mind, modern clothes are all designed for the purpose of making large women look small. What is the result? I look like an animated doll in up-to-date toggery. If they would only go back to the costumes of Ancient Greece—flowing robes, sandals and all that sort of thing, how happy I would be. But her dream terminated most suddenly for in an instant her eyes were snapping vindictively as she jumped down off that trunk and said: "Big women just seem to run things nowadays. And another thing, simply because I am so little, people seem to consider that I am not and never will be a grown-up young lady."

She asked the most pertinent questions. I really do not believe they mean to offend me. It is simply thoughtlessness on their part. People will not give me credit for a mature mentality and I am invariably put in the children's class. Only a few days ago I was asked how I kept my hair in curl—and it is naturally curly, too. That inquiry wasn't personal enough. This party suggested that I should let my curls hang. Can you, in your wildest moments of imagination, picture a young lady of twenty with her hair streaming about her shoulders? Said it would look so cute! Indeed, it just makes me so mad and I simply detest the word cut. I wouldn't be at all surprised if some of these days some one should tell me to run along and play, little girl. Then, came more signs and in a tone of voice charged with lamenting qualities, said: "What's the use? I am little, oh so very little—what is the use of wanting to be big, and then there were more sighs. Miss Clark certainly is correct in her ideas. Even the parts she portrays have to necessarily be written to conform with her diminutive personality. But once they are written—her fascinating tiny morsel of bewitching femininity makes a more striking impression than if she were as big as she would like to be.

It is all very well, Miss Clark, for you to deplore your size—but please—just for the sake of the rest of humanity, try to be contented with the thoughts of the immense pleasure you give to others. That can't be very consoling when one has their heart set on something else but to spread the pleasure about you in this sordid old world as you do is surely a far greater reward than most of us receive. Please—grown-up little girl—don't sigh and wish you were big.

The Lady and the Grocer

Said the Lady—"No other breakfast food has been used in our house since we tried Sanitas Toasted Corn Flakes. The children want it for breakfast and lunch and dinner. We older folks are spoiled for anything else—because no other food has the delicious flavor of Sanitas Toasted Corn Flakes. I never tasted anything like it. My husband says it's 'the angel cake of breakfast cereals.'"

Said the Grocer—"You needn't advertise. Sanitas Toasted Corn Flakes in my town—it sells itself. The only fault I have to find with it is we can't get enough. They tell me the mills are working night and day to keep up with the demand, but that won't satisfy my customers. I never saw anything so popular since cereals were sold. I didn't know the reason until I started eating it myself—nothing else ever tasted so good. It has a flavor all its own."

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Tuesday, November 20, 1866.—The Festival Last Night.—The festival in aid of the colored church, at Lippin's Hall last night, was a most flattering success. The attendance was large and consisted of some of our best citizens. What amount was netted for the church we are unable to ascertain.

"A Burglary.—Some thief or thieves entered John P. Dickson's barn on Fourth Main street last night, and stole two harnesses, a buffalo robe, cushion, &c. By the tracks discovered this morning it is believed the rascal crossed the river in a boat. The doors of the barn were securely locked and the thief had to make his way through a window. A valuable young mare was in the barn but the object was evidently lighter plunder. We recommend that the common council offer a premium for the scalp of any house or barn breaker."

Arrested for Stealing.—Paul Wield with several others was arrested for stealing the pocket book containing $16 in money from Mathew Smith in a Dutch saloon in this city yesterday. Paul was searched and the pocket book money found on him. He was held to bail in the sum of $500 in default of which he was committed.

Prosperity of the Commercial College.—The Janesville Commercial College is decidedly a prosperous institution, and is constantly growing in popularity. Of but a few months' growth it already numbers about 70 students, quite a number of whom are ladies. It is unquestionably one of the best institutions of its kind in the country.

AMERICAN WAGES FOR WOMEN.
At no time in the history of the nation have so many women been employed as today. They have taken the place of men in some departments of work, and in spite of the prejudice which existed when they first entered the field, the demand for their services has steadily increased, and the supply rarely overtaxes the market.

These new channels of work for women account, in large degree, for the scarcity of housemaids, as most young women prefer the factory and office, to domestic service.

The telephone exchanges of the country employ an army of girls, who prefer independence and meager wages, to house work at almost any price.

Every office employs from one to a score of stenographers and typewriters, and this field is monopolized entirely by women; the wages paid compare favorably with the wage scale for men in many of the factories.

More women serve as clerks in mercantile houses today than men. They are good salesmen and tasty shopkeepers, and their services always in demand.

Among the revolutions which have occurred in the business and industrial world, during the past dozen years, none are more pronounced than the advent of women as a prominent factor; yet this country adjusts itself so readily to changed conditions that the realm of labor has been benefited rather than depressed, by the invasion.

The housewife is the only complainant, and the serious problem which confronts her, is yet to be solved. Some one has suggested that the Chinaman and Jap make the best of servants, but they Americanize so rapidly, and become so ambitious on short notice, that a few months' residence in the country places them beyond the reach of the average pocket-book.

A good Jap commands from $60 to $75 per month, while a good Chinaman seldom invades American soil, on account of our philanthropic immigration laws.

Women have all kinds of opportunities to work in this country, at wages far in advance of what is paid in the old world.

Dexter Marshall, the London correspondent of the American Economist, gives, in a recent letter, the experience of an English stenographer. She was employed by a banker at two pounds ($10) per week, which she said was a "top notch" price.

A friend in New York was receiving $20 a week for the same service, and finally persuaded the London girl to join her in this country. She came and found a position at $12 and worked up to $18 per week.

Last spring she went home for a visit, and found that many good stenographers were idle, and glad to work at any price. She returned an enthusiastic American, and after demonstrating, by figures that she can live better, dress better and save more money in New York than in London, she says:

"My answer to those who say that the wage earner's lot in the United States is harder than in England because American 'high tariff' prices offset the high American wages, is that I know from my own personal experience in both countries that they are wrong, and as it is the tariff that puts up the wages, I hope the American men will continue to vote for a high tariff. If it is the lack of tariff that keeps wages down in England, and makes so many Englishmen and Englishwomen paupers, then why don't the English voters stand with Joe Chamberlain?"

THE STANDARD OIL SUIT.
Next in importance to the suit won against the Northern Securities Co., is the action now pending against the Standard Oil Co. by the national government.

The latter company has been a byword in the minds of so many people for so long a time that there is general rejoicing all along the line, and the title of prejudice runs so strong, in some quarters, that Mr.

It might be well to remember that the confiscation of property is not the province of government, however, much it may be desired, in socialistic circles of whatever brand.

The most that the government can do, if successful, as it doubtless will be, is to dissolve a corporation which enjoys monopolistic privileges. This leaves Mr. Rockefeller and his associates with money and property intact.

It will necessitate a new organization, which can be readily accomplished along lines above complaint or criticism. The stock of the Standard Oil Co. can easily be massed, and John D. Rockefeller & Co., doing business as a private company, will be as legitimate as Marshall Field, or any other individual enterprise.

There are many great industries which require corporate wealth to develop, and more than 80 per cent of the manufacturing and all of the transportation is represented by corporations.

This is not true of the Standard Oil company. While it represents one of the greatest and one of the most beneficial industries of the age, the fact remains that John D. Rockefeller and a handful of men close to him are the Standard Oil Co., and they will continue to do business until they voluntarily retire from the field.

Deprive them of this privilege by law, and a precedent is established which would mean confiscation and anarchy in a twelvemonth.

The Standard Oil Co. is accused of two things: secret rebates, and monopoly to the extent of driving competition out of business. The former has been settled by the national government, and railroads, as well as the company, are being punished.

The latter can never be regulated by law. Mr. Rockefeller, and his associates, possessed the money, the ambition, and energy to honeycomb many of the oil districts with pipe lines, making it possible for one of the necessities of life to be distributed over the country at a nominal price.

The small producer was unable to compete, and very naturally complained, but the general public was satisfied with ten cent oil, and the masses today would find it difficult to formulate a complaint.

Up in Marinette is a department store doing a business of two or three million a year. As a result a dozen retail merchants have been crowded out of business during the past three years.

Who complains? Not the public. The people patronize the big store, demonstrating the fact that there is no sentiment about business. It may look harsh in cold type, but it is nevertheless true, that the survival of the fittest is the only law that governs in trade, and because of this fact discovery and development go hand in hand, with rapid stride.

The half dozen men who discuss a grievance around a machine which does their work and forces them out into other fields, incites sympathy for the moment, but they are soon lost in the evolution which is doing so much for the masses.

While abuses should be corrected, and corporations held to account for illegal practices, there is no occasion for indiscriminate warfare on corporate wealth.

"Equality for all; special privileges for none," is the slogan of populism. It is also a popular sentiment among all classes of reformers, and the important fact is ignored that much which passes for "special privilege" is simply well directed energy intelligently applied to opportunity.

The factory which keeps abreast of the times with modern equipment, distances competition which fails to recognize the importance of improved methods. The latter sees business dwindle away, and may complain that the successful rival enjoys special privileges, but the complaint falls on deaf ears.

Every man who wins in the sharp conflict of life, enjoys special privileges which he created and developed for himself, and the men who fail are not always charitable.

Dowie's successor, Voliva, is attempting to corral the socialists in Zion City. The effort will be a failure, but his broad invitation to every man who is wrestling with a new idea, is liable to give him a population of cranks, with all kinds of wheels in the upper story.

Railroad companies are taking time by the forelock, and advancing wages all along the line. The long continued era of prosperity makes it possible for them to do this, and labor not only finds steady employment, but wages were never better.

La Follette should not overlook the first district congressman, in casting about for Senator Spooner's successor, and he should remember that Esch "also ran." These two worthies played their stunt well, and are entitled to recognition.

Ex-Governor Odell of New York is disgruntled. If the republicans of the state had been troubled with Odell microbes, Hearst would have been elected by a good majority.

San Francisco is on the verge of another shock that will demoralize some weak structures, but that will do much to purify the moral atmosphere of the city.

Connor held his own with every man on the state ticket except the governor. That speaks well for the state chairman, and for party loyalty.

WHO SHOT AT JOHN NELSON

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Beloit, Nov. 20.—Officers are looking for Henry Cottonhorn of Newark, who is charged with having shot at John Nelson, his employer, Saturday night. According to Nelson, Cottonhorn stopped him while driving along the road and seizing the horse's bridle threatened to kill him if he did not hand over what he claimed Nelson owed him. Nelson denied owing him anything and whipped up his horse, whereupon Cottonhorn is alleged to have blazed away with a revolver, narrowly missing his employer.

Sunday morning Judge Rosa of the municipal court was called out of court to issue a warrant for the alleged desperado and officers went to Newark in the afternoon to serve it. They did not find their man.

Yesterday Sheriff Cochrane made another attempt which was also fruitless. Farmers in Newark are greatly excited over the affair.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS SENT TO GAZETTE

The Gazette office has received a copy of the inaugural address delivered on Sept. 20 by the Hon. Juan Francisco Smith, new governor-general of the Philippine Islands. The pamphlet is a compliment from John E. Enright, formerly of Janesville, who is private secretary to Mr. Smith. The closing paragraph of the address, which is a keynote to the whole, follows: "Entering upon the duties of the office which I have just assumed I encounter no obstacles in the way of accomplishment save those presented by the problem itself; when I surrender its burdens to my successor may I do so with some faint glow of glorious achievement of the Taft administration, and with some the buoyancy which marks the splendid administration of the man who has retired from office with the heartfelt praise and devotion of the whole people."

SECOND MAN DIES FROM FIRE IN MINE

Dan McCarthy, Fellow Workman of Late Winfield Davis of Janesville, Succumbs.

Daniel McCarthy of Darlington, is dead from injuries received in the mine fire last week in which Winfield Davis of this city was suffocated. It has now developed that a leaky gasoline engine was the cause of the terrible occurrence. This is the first Western Wisconsin mine accident where fire has been fatal to workmen in the mine and there is considerable speculation throughout the district regarding the outcome of a blaze at some of the larger properties. The fire was in the mill over the shaft and shows what might happen to any mine.

MANY CANDIDATES FOR GRIMM'S PLACE

George Grimm, Judge-elect of the twelfth Wisconsin circuit, has resigned his position as probate judge in Jefferson county. Several candidates have announced themselves and their supporters are doing all in their power to influence Governor Davidson for the appointment. Among the aspirants is Mayor Arthur Mulberger of Watertown, a brother of Henry Mulberger who recently wedded Miss Clara Shurtliff of Janesville. Other attorneys seeking the place are W. H. Porter of Jefferson, John G. Conway and G. Buchheit of Watertown, W. H. Parker of Lake Mills and Charles B. Rogers of Fort Atkinson. All are democrats but Rogers and though no effort is being made to have partisanship bear any weight in the appointment the Rogers supporters are the most active. Yesterday a large delegation of prominent republicans visited the governor and presented a huge petition.

MALE THEATRE-GOERS ARE ONLY TRAILERS

Fred Miller, Jr., manager of DeWolf Hopper and his company, former manager of Francis Wilson, and a composer of some note—being the author of "Ship, Ahoy!" and other well-known musical selections—arrived with the vanguard of the company from Madison this morning and made a pleasant call at the Gazette office. "We have the only real comic-opera on the road this season," he said—only he didn't say it so abruptly. "Great reception at Madison last night. Mr. Hopper made a curtain talk which took the fancy of the university boys and when he had finished they raved so loud for 'Casey at the Bat' that he had to respond, though he was in no condition to do so—his vocal powers being considerably hampered by a severe cold. The feminine contingent in our audience went dotty over little Miss Clark, the prima donna, during our stay in Milwaukee. When she appeared in her wedding dress she joined in one big ecstatic sigh. Have a play that pleases the ladies and you needn't worry. The male theatre-goers are only trailers. How old is Mr. Hopper? Well, he must be nearly fifty. Went on the stage when very young. Came from the old Knickerbocker stock, was well educated, but lazy, until he drifted into theatrical work. First two or three years' stage experience cost his family $80,000. He hates to get up in the morning, even now."

FIRE BROKE OUT IN THE DUST-COLLECTOR

Department Was Twice Summoned to Howe Bros. Batting Mill—Chas. Ott. Knocked Down by Horse.

Shortly after four o'clock yesterday afternoon the fire department was called out to attend a blaze in the large dust collector which is operated near the ceiling of the Howe Bros. batting mill, on the River street side. Two streams from the company's own water system were playing on the fire when the department arrived but it was necessary to call the aerial ladder into service in order to get water into the collector from above. The flames did not get to the walls and in consequence the automatic sprinkler did not operate.

At 11:45 last evening Chief Klein and his men were again called to the factory, a blaze having started again in the same collector. Owing to the condition of North River street where the St. Paul Co. has neglected to plank between its tracks, the department had some difficulty in reaching the scene. The fire was extinguished after an hour's work and no great damage was done.

In responding to the alarm Charles Ott, driver of the West Side truck, was knocked down by the new horse-car horse. He struck the brick floor with considerable force and sustained a gash on the back of his head which required the services of a physician. Dr. Merritt dressed the injury.

A. L. MARTIN DENIES THAT HE WAS HERE TO CHECK DEMURRAGE

A. L. Martin, inspector for the Wisconsin Car Service association, objects to a statement made some two weeks ago regarding the object of his visit to Janesville. He was here for the purpose of drawing off a statement of the beet shipments in 1905, and not for the purpose of checking up demurrage. The beet company pay demurrage, the same as all other shippers. Mr. Martin was not responsible for the statement published, and claims that the figures quoted regarding the amount of demurrage paid is incorrect.

Another Big Horse Bulletin.

Bulletin No. 141 of the Wisconsin Experiment Station entitled "The Horse Breeding Industry of Wisconsin," is now ready for distribution. Free of charge to residents of the state. This bulletin, which is prettily illustrated, comprises some 160 pages, and contains in addition to much important reading matter a complete directory of owners of licensed pure-bred grade and cross-bred stallions. It discusses fully and impartially the results of the enforcement of the Stallion Service law enacted by the last state legislature, points out good and poor features of the law and suggests amended or new legislation required for further progress in the same direction.

As one of the chief objects of this bulletin is to stimulate general discussion of horsebreeding matters throughout the state, and thus continue the good work begun by Bulletin No. 127, which dealt with the principles and practice of horsebreeding, it is hoped that every man interested in the improvement of Wisconsin horses will at once send postal card addressed to Agricultural Experiment Station, Madison, Wis., calling for Bulletin No. 141.

McDougall Kitchen Cabinet

Retains its good looks and does good work, year in and year out, under just such conditions. It doesn't become a nuisance. It's always a convenience.

A Labor Saver and a Money Saver.

That's the way it's designed and built. That's what makes the McDougall the cheapest Kitchen Cabinet, even though at the start it does cost a trifle more than the kind that is made to sell.
